PASTOR BANNERMAN'S ARTICLE

Our Lenten Journey

We looked at what Egypt was for us and began to see that which was killing us as a people of faith. We made our journey through the Wilderness, where we explored all the ways that God is trying to transform us to be the people that God wants us to be. We stand now on the edge of the Promised Land. The reports have come in from the spies we sent ahead. There is great joy and hope and possibility for us to move into as a congregation. We have the promise of the resurrection to give us new life. But, in order to get there, we must pass through the betrayal and crucifixion of Maundy Thursday and Good Friday and the pain that comes with it. Part of the pain is in letting go of the comfortable and the familiar, even if it is no longer life-giving.

When faced with a similar choice to either trust God to guide them into the land of milk and honey or turn back in fear of obstacles that were too great, the Children of Israel first chose fear. It took them 40 years of wandering in the Wilderness until they could learn to trust in God enough to move forward into God's promise for them.

As we move out of uncertain times of the pandemic and war and economic changes, with a view of more uncertainty ahead, what will our next step be as a congregation? Will we turn back to the old familiar ways of our Egypt? Will we trust in God to guide us forward into a new and promised future? Will the obstacles be too big? Will the death to the old be too painful? Is the promise of the resurrection enough for us to take a chance and risk a new way of doing and being church in our community?

The journey of transformation in the Wilderness is an ongoing journey with brief respites in oases along the way. God is beginning to nudge us to move out of our current oasis and start the next leg of our journey. Where will God lead us? And will we follow? So many possibilities. So many fears to confront. I invite you to continue to pray and reflect and explore what new things await. Let hope and anticipation be your guides as you take the next step of faith...and the next...and the next.

May the hope and promise of the resurrection be yours,
Pastor Jennifer

ST. VINCENT'S TRIP TO VOLUNTEER

BY DENA LEBO-FUNK

In early March, Carol Petroske, Dena Lebo and Maisy Funk traveled 572 miles to St. Vincent's Mission in David, Kentucky, in an SUV tightly packed with no room to spare! The donations from Huff's, Friends, Inc. in Kutztown, and Maisy's school included 500 seed packets, dental items (160 tooth brushes, 40 toothpastes, 10 flosses), shaving items (5 creams, 14 razors), paper items (2 tissue boxes, 4 towel rolls, 23 toilet, 50 feminine hygiene boxes, 5 diaper packs, gloves, face masks), cleaners (6 detergents, 8 sponges, 6 wipes), various first aid items, soaps (39 shampoos/conditioners, 57 bars, 5 hand, 10 dish), 11 deodorants, 32 other items (trash bags, Q-tips, etc.) and a bag of almost new clothing items. We also gave $127 donated by Huff's members and Maisy's school to the Mission's crisis relief fund currently being used to assist an elderly client on a fixed income who needs to drink Ensure shakes not covered by her medical insurance. On our first morning, we placed most of the above items onto an almost empty shelf unit in the Food Pantry while a few things like 75 of the 160 toothbrushes and the winter clothing were saved for later distribution. The next day, 30 families visited the Food Pantry. Each family is limited to just a few items from that Hygiene shelving unit, so many of your donated items were selected by families that day. Also on that first day, while Carol and I sorted the 500 donated seed packets and bundled them up by 5 packets for distribution that very night to families who signed up for the 2022 Garden Program, Maisy rode with a mission member to fill the van at stores donating food and produce for distribution from the Food Bank. It was raining very heavily when we all helped unload the van and we all got wet! On the afternoon of the first day, Carol and I worked in the small warehouse folding 17 storage containers of donated clothing. On the morning of our second day, we re-organized 27 storage containers of clothing while Maisy, in the mission's used store, re-packaged new socks, worked the checkout and did a ride-along to deliver used furniture that a local family purchased at the used store. On our third day, Maisy tagged 3 storage containers of spring clothing for the used store and worked the checkout while Carol and I purged old crafts and supplies and re-organized the arts and craft building. These items are used when the Mission hosts summer camps, bible school and holiday events for local families. We ended the day by taking a trip to town for cell service (the only cell service at the Mission is through Appalachian Wireless!) and to purchase dog and cat food that we delivered to the local animal shelter. On our last day, we organized the games, toys, prizes, and sports section of the storage building, most of which are used during summer camps and bible schools hosted by the Mission. We also sorted and organized 10 storage totes of tangled clothes hangers which helped the staff, who were hanging spring clothing inside the used store, work more efficiently. It was a warm, sunny day, and we ended it by joining Sister Kathleen in town where she treated us to a fabulous dinner and some very interesting story-telling. The fast approaching late winter snowstorm across KY, WV and MD cut our trip a day short but it was necessary to ensure safe travel.

We are immensely grateful to all of you who donated money and items, gas money, wished us well and welcomed us back. This was the third trip for Maisy and me. It reminded us that God is at work there which can be easy to forget in the bustle of our day-to-day lives. For Carol, this was her first visit. Stepping outside of our own lives showed all of us the spiritual and physical needs of a culture different than our own. Serving alongside the staff, interns and volunteers allowed them to share their perspectives and wisdom and this definitely helped us see aspects of our own lives more clearly.

Ukraine Emergency Appeal

In response to appeals by both the Lutheran Disaster Response and the United Church of Christ Ukraine Emergency Appeal, Huff's Union Council and our Mission Endowment Fund each allocated $1,000 to aid the crisis in Ukraine.

A soup kettle has been placed at the back of the sanctuary to receive additional donations from the congregation. The appeal will run through Easter, after which time all funds collected will be equally divided and sent to the Lutheran and UCC appeal agencies.
